We imagine Gleanhouse as a place of thought an experiment in recollection, gleaned bits of knowledge. A description of this theory known as *brain stream, a "recall or retrieval of memory refers to subsequent re-accessing of events or information from the past, which have been previously encoded and stored in the brain. In common parlance, it is known as remembering. These replays are not identical to the original occurrence otherwise; we would not know the difference between the genuine experience and memory it is a replay mixed with an awareness of the current situation". Therefore, with this understanding the Gleanhouse Garden inspired by Piouyt (Blivet) and Necker Cube in that it is intentionally an ambiguous abstraction. We encourage visitors to adjust the way they *twig a garden. Taking time to observe, make note of the experience. Its time, take it slowly.
